NleCer 104: Introduction to Systematic Reviews for Dental Health Professionals

By Multifaculty

ICMR-National Institute of Epidemiology, Chennai

ABOUT: This course is part of the series of courses on health research offered by ICMR-NIE. Systematic reviews, as a method of conducting research synthesis, are becoming common. They provide much needed evidence in areas which lack a concrete consensus and are considered cornerstones of forming practice and policy guidelines. This course was born out of the need felt among dental health professionals across the country to understand
